Allergies from CCDs subtab

After this release: When a user navigates to the Clinical Data tab, the system will display a new sub-tab called "Allergies". When a user clicks the Allergies sub-tab, the system will display allergies associated with the patient, sourced from clinical documents sent to the HIEs. The system will display a patient's allergy data in a table with the following columns: Allergy, Reaction, Comments, Last Reported By, and Last Reported Date.

Note: This change is managed by a feature flag that can conditionally display the new Allergies subtab. This feature may go active later than the release deployment date.
